

Contents

Section I – The endonym/exonym divide

Paul WOODMAN	The naming process: Societal acceptance and the endonym definition
Peter JORDAN	Towards a comprehensive view at the endonym/exonym divide
Philip W. MATTHEWS	Endonyms, exonyms and seas
Ojārs BUŠS	On some possibilities for a more exact definition of exonyms
Paul WOODMAN	Endonyms, exonyms and language boundaries: A clarification
Maciej ZYCH	Definition of 'exonym' in the context of the new list of Polish exonyms
Herman BELL	Nubian perceptions of exonyms and endonyms
Halīm SABBĀR	Numbers as geographical names in Nubia: Endonyms or exonyms?
Paul WOODMAN	Toponymic expression: Endonyms and exonyms in speech, writing and reading

Section II – Exonym analysis and usage

Małgorzata MANDOLA	French exonyms for Polish toponyms
Béla POKOLY	Trends in exonym use: Selected exonyms of the Hungarian language
Maria Del Mar BATLLE	What is an endonym in Spain?
Bogusław R. ZAGÓRSKI	Polish exonyms for the Arab world: How they come and go; what appears to stay
Ivana CRLJENKO	Geographical feature importance as a criterion for exonym selection: Croatian examples
Pavel BOHÁČ	Names of European spatial features within the List of Czech Exonyms

Section III – Minority toponyms

Zsombor BARTOS-ELEKES	Minority toponyms in Romania
Mónika MÁNDOKI, András DUTKÓ	Slovak names of settlements in Hungary
Ewa WOLNICZ-PAWŁOWSKA, Maciej ZYCH	Place names in minority languages in Poland

Section IV – Endonyms, exonyms and an illustration from history

Paul WOODMAN	Toponymy in a landscape of aggression: Geographical names in National Socialist Germany
--------------	---